AIRSHIP FLIGHT FOURTH OF JULY,

Special Committee Plans Programme for Observance With Ascension as Feature.

Spread-eagle oratory will take a back eat at the World's Fair Fourth of July celebration for an up-to-date airship as sension by Santos-Dumont, which will be the star feature of the day on the grounds. This was decided on yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Press and Publicity and Ceremonies Committees.

The meeting was held to receive the report of the special committee appointed Wednesday evening to report on a programme for the celebration of the great national holiday at the Exposition. This committee was composed of Judge Franklin Ferris, Secretary Walter B, Stevens and Colonel James G, Butler.

An interesting programme was outlined for the day, the sirship flight by Santos Dumont being offered as the piece de resistance.

Santos is now in New York, and is exthe star feature of the day on the grounds, Dumont being offered as the piece de resistance.

Santos is now in New York, and is expected to arrive in St. Louis either the latter part of this week or early next week. His famous "No. ?" is expected to reach the city next Wednesday, and it is thought that he will consent to make a flight on the Fourth.

Other events of the day will be special celebrations and speeches in the several State buildings at the Fair. There will be no special exercises or speeches in the Plaza of St. Louis, the committee realizing that the airship flight will be of particular interest, far outwelghing any observances of this kind.

BRITON AND BOER MIMIC GREAT BATTLES OF VELDT.

Formal Opening of South African Exhibition Company at the Fair Is Well Attended.

Great battles of the veidt between the British and Boers in the Transvaal were fought over last night in the arena of the South African Boer War Exhibition Company, which was formally opened last night at the World's Fair. The performance began at 5 o'clock, and a large attendance marked the first public representation of the great historical a large attendance marked the first public representation of the great historical struggle.

The programme, which was framed by Frank Fillis, was in three-parts.

The first showed the defiling of the troops; Generals Ben Viljoan and Cronje heading the Boer cavairy, 200 strong, while Major W. P. Stewart commanded the 200 British.

The battle of Colenso, showing the Tugelo River, the Boers strongly intrenched, and the advance of British troops, formed the second part.

The battle of Paardeberg, with Cronje's "Langer," explosion of the British shella, the British shoming the langer, and the surrender of Cronje, was the final act.

A kraal inhabited by Zulus, Kaffirs, Basutos and Swazies, about 100 in number, is part of the concession, and shows the life and customs of these savages.

There is also a South African Museum.

More than 29,000 persons witnessed the mimio battles, and thousands were unable to gain admittance because all the space inside was occupied. bile Service.

Probably the best patronized automible in town is the big fiyer in operation between Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company's office building at Twelvih street and Washington avenue, and their different factories. This service is compilimentary, and a cordial invitation is extended to visiting merchants and their friends to take an automobile ride and see, in the different processes of manufacture, the shoes that have made Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company the largest in the world.

Saddlery Manufacturers' Association left a concession on the Pike last night at 8:30 o'clock, saying that they had been wrongfully treated by the management.

The delegates declare that they had purchased reserved seats for 500 delegates for the performance, beginning at 3 o'clock. Some of the delegates did not come on time, and, therefore, did not see all of the performance. They asked to be allowed to remain over for the next performance, but this request the immager refused, saying that the seats had been reserved for a specified time, and that if the buyers did not come promptly it was not his fault. He also said that the association had applied for only 400 reserved seats. wrongfully treated by the management. seats.

The difference will probably be settled to-day.
